

What Can NCALL Do to Help?

NCALL will conduct Pre-Development Grant Application Meetings after receiving approval from Rural Development's National Office. At this meeting, Pre-Development Application Training will be conducted. NCALL also provides "hands on assistance" during this 2/3-day training to:

- establish an initial projection of the number of homes based on the completed initial feasibility;
- discuss marketing and recruitment commitment and ideas;
- discuss affordable design of the house plans;
- develop pre and final application development time schedules;
- develop a preliminary grant budget, and
- develop staffing positions to the specific needs of the agency (including initial job descriptions).

Basic 502 loan program requirements are also covered to enable the staff to be informed when talking to the general public about the mortgage loan program for the families.

NCALL will provide technical assistance to prepare the pre-development application.

Monthly phone calls and emails to prospective grantees will be made to determine updates, identify problems that are being experienced, answer questions, determine if additional on-site assistance is needed to correct or overcome any problem areas, and to determine ongoing interest. Rural Development staff will be kept informed.

Additional on-site assistance will be provided as needed. This includes assistance with problems associated with the development of the pre-development application, conducting community based outreach meetings to assist in establishing interest in the program and ways to gain community and employer support.

NCALL will assist those multi-funded organizations with establishing an indirect cost rate or a direct cost allocation plan as needed and provide a financial handbook that covers this issue. NCALL will perform a cursory review of the pre-development grant application and provide comments regarding completeness and compliance with RD Instruction 1944-I.

NCALL will publish and distribute the "Self-Helper" newsletter quarterly. NCALL utilizes newsletters and conference calls for networking training information dissemination. The newsletter will be sent to operating, new and prospective grantees, Rural Development and all other interested parties.

 Month 6 should be spent assembling the application and submitting it to NCALL and Rural Development for review.

The Pre-application stage is designed for new organizations to prove to Rural Development that there is enough interest and land in a certain area, and that your organization is eligible and capable of operating a mutual self-help housing program. NCALL's role is to help you in any way possible in achieving these goals.
