This annual report reflects the activity of the National Council on Agricultural Life & Labor Research Fund, Inc. (NCALL) during the time period of October 1, 2012 - September 30, 2013.
Dear Friends:

2013 represented a year full of challenges and opportunities that the Board of Directors and staff together tackled head-on.

Through strong governance and with substantial energy spent on strategic and operations planning, NCALL has charted a relevant course for 2014-2016. Our vision and mission have been updated and can be found on the cover. Strategic goals will respond to community needs, bridge finance and service gaps, and increase capacity of customers and NCALL, all while maintaining top performance in the affordable housing and community development field.

Amidst a less than optimal economic landscape, NCALL maintained its “Exemplary” rating from NeighborWorks America and undertook a successful CARS Review which maintained a strong AA+2 rating. NCALL was recertified as a CDFI by the Department of Treasury and was designated a NeighborWorks Green Organization. Staff found creative means to host a Regional Self-help Housing Conference and began an important Neighborhood Planning Process for Central Dover. Quantifiable growth was recognized within the Loan Fund and $tand by ME financial coaching. Not satisfied with the status quo, we again saw strong results in new homeowners, foreclosures prevented, and apartments developed or preserved. Please view NCALL’s 2013 results on the opposite page. Along with the significant scale of our work, you will find compelling success stories representing changed lives within this report.

Importantly, NCALL took time to intentionally look at the issue of sustainability as it relates to our industry, customers, services, and operations. We utilized technical coaching to learn more and put into practice new skills and commitments, all of which will benefit our customer base within our lines of business. As we plan for the future, sustainability represents a blend of governance and capacity, economic viability and efficient operations, and conservation, renewable energy and green practices, for NCALL and our projects and customers.

We very much appreciate the relationships we have with you as friends, partners, customers, investors, and stakeholders. It is a privilege to work together for such a noble and vital mission.

The road to homeownership is not always a short or smooth one. It wasn’t for Deshay. She came to NCALL five years ago.

Deshay shares, “I came to NCALL with a few of my girlfriends. One of them had suggested that we come check out what NCALL had to offer. My credit was terrible. I didn’t think I could ever be a homeowner.” She met with a Homeownership Specialist at NCALL and took steps to improve her situation. “I couldn’t see how homeownership was ever going to be possible for me. I still went to NCALL for my appointments, but in my heart, I doubted. My counselor wasn’t going to let me give up. She’s like family to me now.”

Throughout her journey, Deshay had to make changes in her life and learn to do things differently. She filed for bankruptcy and then began budgeting and saving. “I learned so much from NCALL. I learned to stop living beyond my means, to budget and the importance of paying my bills on time. I understand insurance now and how to save.”

In July, all of Deshay’s hard work paid off and she bought her own home in Dover, DE. “This was such a huge accomplishment! I had my daughter...”

“I learned so much from NCALL. I learned to stop living beyond my means and to budget...This was such a huge accomplishment!”

Deshay, Homeowner at age 19. Since then I always wanted a home for her and me. There were times over the years when I really thought it couldn't be done. Now it feels so good! I have a skylight in my home and every day I look through it and say, thank you Lord!”

Deshay liked her experience with NCALL so much she often encourages her friends and relatives to try out our services. One such relative was her cousin, Shemika. She bought her home in June of this year.

According to Shemika, “NCALL staff was always so welcoming and encouraging. My counselor got through the process and I did! The credit counseling portion was the most important for me and my counselor made sure I never gave up.”

After years of renting, Shemika shared “I just wanted to be my own landlord. I wanted to pay my own mortgage instead of someone else's.
Now I have my own home and I am not paying much more than I was in rent.”

Shemika has advice for others considering owning their own home, “Tell them to go for it...there is nothing like homeownership. It’s the best feeling in the world!”

“When you see yourself falling behind, get help early. Put pride out of the way and don’t give up! I can’t say enough positive things about NCALL. My counselor went way beyond what I expected. The whole staff was so caring!”

Teresa, Homeowner

Signs like the one above are still far too common in Delaware. According to Realty Trac, as of November 2013, Delaware has the second highest rate of foreclosure. The national average is 1 in every 1,155 homeowners, for Delaware it’s 1 in every 480. But, NCALL is working hard to keep them to a minimum.

It takes a number of remedies to assist families in saving their homes when possible. Whether it be mediation, loan modifications, the Delaware Emergency Mortgage Assistance Program (DEMAP) for hardships and improved money management, NCALL specialists are on call.

Teresa was shocked when the company that she had worked as a dedicated customer service employee for 30 years went out of business. Several of the employees, including Teresa, tried to form a new company. That business did not succeed and Teresa struggled to find permanent employment elsewhere. She went from job to job before she found a new career at a funeral home.

When she was unemployed, her ability to pay her bills suffered. She tried to work with her mortgage company to modify her payments, but that took time and more paperwork than she could have ever imagined. She started worrying that she may lose her home.

When talking to a friend about her troubles, they recommended that she contact NCALL. She did so and signed up for a Foreclosure Prevention class as soon as she could.

“By the time I came to NCALL, I really was at the end of my rope.” Teresa worked with her counselor to find a solution to her problem. She was approved for the DEMAP program. This assistance paid her back payments and she now has a reduced mortgage payment for a period of time while DSHA pays the difference. She was very relieved to be able keep her home. “My home means the world to me. It is the house I grew up in. Now that my parents are gone it really reminds me of them. I couldn't imagine loosing it.”

Her advice for others in this situation, “When you see yourself falling behind, get help early. Put pride out of the way and don’t give up. I was usually the one that always provided help to others, it was hard to ask for it. But I can’t say enough positive things about NCALL. My counselor went way beyond what I expected. The whole staff was so caring!”

Financial literacy empowers people to take control of their finances rather than being controlled by them. NCALL’s innovative $tand by ME initiative, through the Delaware Financial Empowerment Partnership and United Way of Delaware, provides financial coaching opportunities at venues throughout Kent and Sussex Counties. The coaching enables people to establish their goal and work towards it using resources provided through their NCALL/$tand by ME coach. This service is free to all Delaware residents regardless of age or income.

“NCALL worked really hard for me. I am so happy with them. I recommend the organization to my friends. I tell them, ‘Get over there, it’s free! It’s not going to be easy, but it’s so worth it in the end!’”

Waldemar, New Homeowner

These services are now available at Dover Downs, Del Tech Terry Campus, Handy Tube, Wilmington University and Delaware State Housing Authority public housing sites. Our newest venues include child care centers located throughout Kent and Sussex Counties for their employees and parents, as well as Dover Air Force Base employees and their families.

An employee of Dover Downs, Waldemar heard about NCALL’s services through his employer. He had come to the United States from Puerto Rico three years earlier with the dream of a better life for his family.

According to Waldemar, “I went to see NCALL after hearing about the $tand by ME program. I really wanted to work on my credit. My coach was so helpful. He gave me advice on everything. He took the time to explain things to both my wife and I. We went through the class on how to save money and learned so much.” With NCALL’s help, Waldemar was able to settle and pay off some debts and get them cleared from his credit report.

After participating in the $tand by ME program, Waldemar and his wife went on to attend NCALL’s Homebuyer Education program. Then, in November they purchased their own home. Now that they are used to budgeting, they feel like their mortgage payment is very comfortable. “I always wanted to own my own home and I thought I could do it someday...but not that fast! I love our new home. We were able to purchase a brand new two-story home with a basement at a great price. I got my dream home!”

Waldemar reports that his kids love their new house also because they each have their own room. “Homeownership is amazing! I don’t have to worry about making too much noise, like you do in an apartment. It’s so peaceful here. I just love having my own space!”

Now Waldemar encourages his friends to take advantage of NCALL’s services. “NCALL worked really hard for me. I am so happy with them. I recommend the organization to my friends. I tell them, ‘Get over there, it’s free! It’s not going to be easy, but it’s so worth it in the end!’ ”

Since 2008, Dover Interfaith Mission for Housing (DIMH) has provided shelter for nearly 1,000 homeless men. Now they want to expand their services to have options for transitional and permanent housing. According to Jeanine Kleimo, Chair of DIMH, “The average stay in our shelter is 80 days. That’s not enough time to get permanently on your feet after being homeless. A lot of our clients are dealing with difficulties that can make it hard for them to find housing, even when they have found employment. Rent in our area is high and these men need more support.”

At their homeless shelter, DIMH offers meals, employment counseling, and job readiness classes. But it is still difficult for the men to leave this environment and transition to renting a market-rate apartment. That is why DIMH wants to offer varying levels of support and housing options. “Their income potential is very limited and these men can be challenging to house due to criminal history, no or poor credit and learning disabilities. It can be difficult for them to achieve the stability they need to move on with their lives.”

A permanent housing option will now be located in the new Walt Bagley Hall which is a 32-bed residence that will be in service early 2014. The cost to purchase this building was $700,000. DIMH used a combination of seller-based financing, donations and a loan from NCALL’s Loan Fund.

In addition to the cost of purchasing the building, renovations were needed. The improvements

The Loan Fund
Providing capital resources for nonprofits on Delmarva included additions to the water and sprinkler systems; a commercial kitchen installation; interior remodeling and providing furniture and equipment for the common areas and rooms. The first floor was also made handicapped accessible.

According to Jeanine, “Projects like this are costly. The seller was willing to work with us and supportive of the project, but he needed some influx of capital at the sale of the building.” As a Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI), NCALL provided DIMH with $100,000 for the purchase and $100,000 for renovations. “We needed a friendly lender. We didn’t have access to other financing for those purposes. NCALL was willing to provide the loan and take a second position lien on the property. No other lenders were willing to do that. Working with NCALL is such a collaborative effort. They want to do everything possible to make the deal happen.”

NCALL is looking forward to continuing the partnership with DIMH and helping them to grow as an organization. A third loan from NCALL is now assisting DIMH with their latest project of acquiring and developing housing opportunities in downtown Dover.

According to city-data.com, the average rent paid in Middletown, DE is $947. To be able to afford that rent, a household’s income would need to be at least $38,000. This means that most apartments are out of reach for moderate to low-income families.

There is a rental community in Middletown which is more affordable to the residents that live there...that is North Lake Village. This rental community consists of six buildings that contain 52 apartments of varying size, ranging from one to four-bedroom, and a community center. This development receives HUD and USDA rental assistance. This allows apartment residents to pay rents based on their income, making this an affordable option for many residents in the Middletown area.

This assistance was in jeopardy a few years ago when the property was in need of substantial upgrades and modernization to maintain their status to continue receiving rental assistance. The owner could not acquire the necessary financing to provide for the renovations. NCALL assisted them in reviewing their options and extended an offer to Milford Housing Development Corporation (MHDC) to help. Ownership was transferred to MHDC and NCALL packaged the necessary financing applications, including Delaware Low Income Housing Tax Credit and Housing Development Fund/HOME. Assistance was also provided in packaging the rollover of the USDA mortgage as well as the continuation of rental assistance from USDA and HUD. These applications were approved and the renovations began in December of 2012.

The renovations included preservation of the six apartment buildings, a community building and the grounds. All buildings had a complete interior and exterior renovation, including new exterior...
façades, plumbing, electrical, HVAC, and new appliances. The playground was upgraded and made handicapped accessible. An exercise path with workout stations was also added to provide more outside activity for the residents. The previous community building was expanded from 400 to 1500 square feet. It now houses a community room and computer station along with larger laundry facilities and a property management office. The community room will enable residents to enjoy a variety of activities and services that will improve their quality of life. By November of 2013, the project was complete.

According to Russell Huxtable, MHDC’s Vice President, “With the growth in population in the Middletown area, there is a shortage of rental properties. The ability to preserve these units was critical.” Throughout the project, NCALL worked with MHDC to provide assistance on all aspects of development. “It was nice to lean on NCALL’s Housing Development Specialists. We really appreciated their support.”

MHDC and NCALL assembled a development team which included the Hudson Housing Capital Group, who provided the equity for this project, Fisher Architecture and U & I Builders. USDA Rural Development and DSHA are providing permanent financing for this development.

The redesigned and energy efficient apartments will serve families well for many years to come. The rental assistance has been preserved and the units will remain affordable. MHDC has the capacity and experience to make sure that North Lake Village is maintained as quality, affordable housing for the long term, benefitting hundreds of residents.

During the 2013 fiscal year NCALL was able to arrange for a replacement grantee to join the ranks of organizations operating the Mutual Self-Help Housing Program in Region III. Habitat for Humanity of Sauk-Columbia Area (HfHSCA), in Baraboo, Wisconsin began their first grant in late March. Their goal is to build 10 homes in a two-year period with the families providing 65% of the labor.

Eleanor Chiquoine, HfHSCA’s Executive Director, is very pleased to bring this program to their community. It served two of the goals of the organization by being able to provide more affordable homes and to increase the organization’s capacity. “As a Habitat affiliate, we rely so much on donations and those donations go right back to providing housing. We couldn’t have paid staff, but we very much needed it to be sustainable.”

Self-Help Housing also lined up with the values of the organization. Eleanor shared, “I believe in putting work in to get a deal. I believe in homeownership. This is the American dream—people working hard and helping each other. The homes are going to serve participating families for their entire lives and this was their only path to homeownership.”
Eleanor shared her gratitude about NCALL being a part of Self-Help Housing. “I can see the real value in having a government interface like NCALL as a partner in this program. I have been really impressed with the role that NCALL plays and their accessibility is wonderful!”

According to Erica, a single mom building her own home in the first group of five families, “Before I heard about this program I knew I wanted a home for my son and me. I looked on the market at foreclosed homes because that was all I could afford. They were all in such bad shape.” She then heard about HfHSCA’s new Mutual Self-Help Housing Program and decided this was her chance to get a nice, new home. “They say it’s going to be a rough, long few months. I underestimated how hard it was going to be...but it’s going to be so worth it in the long run. I think everyone should get a taste of this. Working so hard makes you appreciate it even more.” Another unexpected bonus for Erica has been working with her future neighbors to make their dreams all come true. “We’ve all gotten so close, we’ll be friends for life!”

According to HfHSCA Program Director Wendy Schneider, “We wouldn’t have been able to do this without NCALL’s help. It’s wonderful to know that you have support. It really gives me security and confidence to know that the NCALL staff is always there to help us succeed.”

NCALL’s Staff
NCALL is committed to maintaining healthy, green, sustainable practices that benefit our customers, clients, borrowers, and nonprofit partners. We accomplish this with an emphasis on sustainable principles in all of our business operations including our office environments, homeownership education curriculums, and our lending and housing development partnerships. NeighborWorks America recognized NCALL’s commitment to sustainability by designating NCALL a NeighborWorks Green Organization this year. With the continued support of our Board of Directors and dedicated staff we are proud of this achievement and will continue to work with all of our stakeholders to make NCALL a green, sustainable organization that takes action now, but has an eye on the future.
